

Variety.

From the Pleasant Phoenix.
AMITHON.

Who can number thy virtues as thy crimes? When canst thou the sparkling career, the wasting agonies, the burning tears and kindling hopes which thou hast known? Could we lift the covering of the tomb and look on upon the youthful forms, mouldering and cold, dragged away in the midst of life and hope and locked up in the sepulchre, what should we call their destroyer but the child of hell? Yes, thou art a demon in an Angel's guise. Thy path is strewn with flowers blossoming and beautiful, but beneath them the deadly spider lurks. A deadly and penetrating we press on toward the summit of the hill, where in the "wind's eye" flourish the "velvet fields." Forgetful that our feet are resting on the heaving surface of a volcano!

In a College situated in a lovely valley in the western part of Massachusetts, in the autumn of 1855, I first saw L. S. He was a youth of talent, his form was manly, his countenance noble, and his manners prepossessing. His cheek was colored with the hue of health. His forehead was large, and given there might discern deep lines of thought. His eye—I beheld it still, dark and restless, now glowing like the summer sun—and now glowing with a faintness like the stars of the dead; yet, point of the pencil of the deity, you might read in its changes the workings of the soul. To stand first among the young, the gifted the admired—to pluck the fairest flowers that bloom upon the hill of science—to wear the greenest wreath that hangs upon the temple of fame, were the vows which he had imposed upon himself. His competitors were strong and unyielding. The prize could not be won without a struggle. But who can successfully contend with a spirit bravely determined to gain the object of its desire? Often at the hour of midnight when his companions were enjoying the luxury of repose, so sweet to the weary mind of the student, he alone sat hending over his books with an anxiety which must have been agonizing. They were his idols, and he bowed to them with the devotedness of the worshippers of Baal. Nor the charms of society, nor the sweets of repose, nor the presages of death could break the spell which Ambition had thrown around him. Day by day I saw his cheek grow pale. I remonstrated, I entreated; I reminded him of the duties he owed to God and to his country; of the hopes of his aged, widowed mother; of the untimely graves of some of his comrades; and besought him to give up the opholy contest. But in vain. I might as well have reasoned with a maniac; I might as well have poured my entreaties on the ear of death!

It was Commencement day. The morning sun rose in its brightness and poured its radiant beams upon the glossy stream that slowly winds along the valley of W. On its beautiful banks many had assembled to look again on their "Alma Mater," and to join the circle of old companions which each returning autumn beheld diminished. The rattling of carriage wheels, the sounds of hurrying footsteps, the merry shout, rising from groups assembled on the green, listening to the adventures of some wild associate, these marked the return of their annual festival. But there was one who mingled not in the scenes of hilarity. L. S. was not among the crowd. I hurried to his apartment and stood by the bedside of my dying friend! His aged mother was bending over him, watching his fading eye with the intenseness of a mother's love. He reached to me his cold long hand. "Ah!" said he, "you have come to see me die! I have won the wreath, but it is a wreath ofypress; I have redeemed my pledge; the first honors of the class are mine; I have purchased them at the expense of my life—of my soul! Bear to my classmates my dying valedictory—Listen not to the siren voice of Fame!"

A week passed by, and the cold form of the young, the admired, but ill-fated L. S. was borne away and laid down to moulder beneath the folds of its native hills.

W.

APOTROPHIC TO FRIENDSHIP. Passion sublime! attribute of great minds! whose flame, pure as the fire of heaven's altar, is kindled by sympathy and brightened by intimacy; redeeming spirit, which the Sovereign Being has accorded to man to do an angel's errand; O divine Friendship! thy smile is life, thy name an epitome of all the joys of time. Thou, whose bonds are stronger than the ties of blood; thou, who, in the Sicilian friends, didst triumph o'er the fears of death; thou angel of the world! bear the prayer of thy faithful votary on life's eventful sea, should the gales of prosperity fan me and fill my sails, O grant thy favoring presence. Give me some heart that shall meet mine, reciprocally soft; lips to partake and sweeten the cup of blessing, or it will prove but an intoxicating draught of bestial pleasure. Dashed it from my lips, and grant, instead, the anchorite's simple well, and the solitude of nature, as well as loneliness of heart. Or, if the past is but the shadow of the future, and the storm is to lower more darkly as I approach that boisterous whence no traveler returns—from which there sets no current, and there blows no breeze toward the shores of time, still grant thy presence. Sustained by thee, I can meet, unblanching, the scowl of a misgiving world, nor heed the peltings of its pitiless storms. Sweetened by thee, I can draw the cup of suffering to the dregs, nor find bitterness, but in the thought that ought I love should partake it with me. Then, ah! I! thou ornament of the happy friend of the afflicted. Blessed is the heart that owns thy influence, though it beat beneath the garb of a mediant. Unhappy he who knows thee not, though thousands call him lord.—Fortissimo.

A TEAR. A tear is what? 'Tis the overflow of the cup of sensibility, the index to a soul fraught with feeling, the solvent of a heart drooping in solitude; with the base, 'tis the arms of warfare against the innocence of loneliness, simplicity and beauty—with woman 'tis the shield of defence against the wily and insidious, her weapon of defence to the cold, the obdurate and the unfeeling; with the parent 'tis the blessing of age on the offspring of youthful vigor and affection; with the child, 'tis the supporting staff of filial piety; with friends 'tis the token of communion of souls; to the afflicted 'tis the angel of consolation, the balm of Gilead to the wounded spirit, the dew of sympathy to the withering flowers of sorrow.

THE COURT. Halcyon comet, which has, in obedience to the predictions of the astronomers, paid us a visit, after making its obeisance to the sun, is now on its return whence it came. Its speed down the heavens is computed to be more than two hundred thousand miles an hour. What a sphere will this aerial streamer describe in its voyage of seventy-five years! And more wonderful still, what a chain must than be in its orbit, of which only one link is formed by the awful curve of this visitant to other spheres! We stand as it were upon the wind and wave our heads to this streaming voyager, now but faintly seen in our brilliant southern sky. And speed three stranger barques, upon that faithless ocean through which thy path of peril lies? Never again on our mortal eyes will thy vision burst. At thy next return to this mundane sphere, our poor worn-out heads will be resting upon the gravel pillow. Others may see—but never again shall we behold thee.—Our first interview must also be our last.—But go, where thy Maker commands, and whatever be thy errand, God speed thee, and guard thee against the fierce concussion of swirling stars, or against the treacherous voice and fire that may now be muttering in thy bosom.—Western Methodist.

VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE.

THE subscriber offers for sale the Farm on which he now lives and formerly the residence of the late Col. John Chipman, together with the stock of Cattle, Sheep and Horses, and all the farming utensils. The Farm is situated about four miles south of the village of Middlebury, and contains about FIVE HUNDRED ACRES of the choicest INTERVAL and UPLAND. On the premises are a large and convenient new two story DWELLING HOUSE, built and finished in the best manner, with Wood House, Carriage House, &c. Also, THREE comfortable and convenient DWELLING HOUSES—THIRTEEN BARN AND SHEDS—CORN BARN, and all other necessary out buildings.—The Farm is well watered by the Middlebury River, which divides it nearly in the centre, and by springs. There is on the farm an abundance of excellent fruit, with plenty of wood for the use of the farm, and about 80 acres heavily timbered with Pine and Cedar, and a ledge of excellent building and lime-stone. Said Farm is well fenced, in a high state of cultivation, and from the fertility of the soil, the convenience of its arrangement, and the beauty of the location, is perhaps one of the most desirable situations in the State.

ALSO: A Lot half a mile south of the above containing thirty one and a half acres, about 25 acres of which is in pasturing, and the balance covered with Birch and Maple timber.

ALSO: A FARM, in the east part of Middlebury, containing 177 acres of the best of grazing land, with a log House and Barn, about 75 acres cleared, fenced and well watered.

Terms of payment will be made accommodated and immediate possession given.

Fifth Volume of the LADIES COMPANION COMMENCES WITH THE MAY NUMBER.

PUBLISHED MONTHLY ON THE FIRST OF EVERY MONTH. PUBLISHED BY WILLIAM W. SNOWDEN.

THE Ladies Companion contains original and selected Tales, Sketches, Essays, Poetry, Biography, &c. &c. together with a choice collection of Music, and is embellished with splendid Engravings, Drawings, Embroidery, &c. with an accurate description of each plate. In addition to which, the April and October numbers are accompanied with handsome engraved title-pages, and a general index, for each volume, alphabetically arranged, which is intended to perfect two volumes a year of nearly SIX HUNDRED PAGES. The Steel Engravings which have appeared in the Ladies Companion during the last year, are beyond comparison with those of any similar publication in America, and the price of the whole is only three dollars per annum. The following are the engravings, and those of the succeeding year, will be equal, if not superior, to any that have as yet embellished the work.

The Last Supper. Mount Sorel. Rock Fort. Westwick. and view of New York. Catskill Mountains. Fort Putnam. Southkill Falls. View on the Delaware. Mountain House. Catskill Interior of the late New York Exchange. Blackwell's Island and Prisoners. Steel Engravings. Washington Lake. Mother's Grave. The Russian Peasants. Copied from the original. Pope's Study. Portrait of M. Berryer. New York University. Engraved Embroidery. Head Dresser. Cap Pattern. The Illiad at their Study. Wood & Lath. Engraving. MUSIC. The Soldier's Tear. I sing of Thee and Love. The Highland Widow. The Young Cavalier. The Navy and its Return. Fly, pretty Butterfly! The Days of Joy all gone. Lull away to the Greenwood Shade. Ray no Flowers; Follow, in the Clear Moonlight. Arranged for the Piano, Harp or Guitar, with accompaniments.

THE MUSICAL DEPARTMENT. Will continue under the superintendence of a Professor, M. CASTELLANI, who will exercise the greatest care and attention in the selection, and thus the favorite branch of refinement so much required.

The original articles and translations, published in the Ladies Companion, are furnished by writers of established merit, including many Ladies, who have steadily favored the work with contributions since its commencement. It is with heartfelt gratitude for the unprecedented support already extended to the Ladies Companion, the publisher states, that arrangements are in progress for securing the aid of some of the first writers in AMERICA and EUROPE in behalf of this literary enterprise. At this early period of the year, he perhaps incurs their displeasure, and the just censure of the public in case of a failure, to exhibit their names to the world, before the arrangements are with certainty completed—suffice it to say, that there are those among them, whose writings have shed lustre upon American literature.

The publisher in conclusion, appeals with confidence to the pages of the Ladies Companion, for the last two years, as an earnest of his ceaseless efforts to maintain the enviable and lofty standing the work at present occupies in the community.

The selections are made from the following European Periodicals:—Blackwood's, Metropolitan, Fraser's Magazine, New Monthly Magazine, Monthly Repository, United Service Journal, London Standard, Court Magazine, Oriental Review, London Mirror, Ladies Pocket Magazine, Ladies Museum, World of Fashion, Translations from La Revue Française, &c. &c. La Belle Assemblée, Ladies London Cabinet, Gentlemen's Magazine, Magazine of the Beau Monde, Liverpool Advertiser, Bell's Weekly Messenger.

In addition to the above named works, the publisher has access to an immense variety of other periodicals, received by individuals, for their private libraries.

"Each number of the Ladies Companion contains forty eight large octavo pages (double columns) printed on fine paper, stitched in a cover—published on the 1st of every month, and is forwarded to subscribers by the earliest mails. It is enclosed in strong double covers. Postmasters remitting $5 will be entitled to two copies of the work—and those remitting $15 will be entitled to six copies and a seventh gratis.

All Letters on business must be post paid. Address, WILLIAM W. SNOWDEN, Publisher Ladies Companion, No. 9, Beekman Street, NEW-YORK.

THE VEGETABLE PULMONARY BALSAM.

THE most valuable remedy discovered for Coughs, Cold, Consumptions, Asthma, Spitting of blood, Hoarseness, and pulmonary affections of every kind. Recommended by many physicians and gentlemen of the first respectability. Thirty certificates, detailing the particulars of remarkable cures, may be examined on the wrapper to each bottle. Price fifty cents per bottle.

COUNTERFEITS! BEWARE OF IMPOSITION. Each genuine bottle is enclosed in a blue wrapper, on which is a yellow label signed SAMSON REED. None other can be genuine.

The great celebrity of the Genuine Vegetable Pulmonary Balsam has been the cause of attempts to introduce spurious articles, which by partially assuming the name of the genuine are calculated to mislead and deceive the public. Among these mixtures are the "American Pulmonary Balsam," "Vegetable Pulmonary Balsam," "Syrup," and others. Purchasers should inquire for the true article by its whole name, the VEGETABLE PULMONARY BALSAM, and see that it has the marks and the signature of the genuine. Each bottle and seal is stamped Vegetable Pulmonary Balsam. 24-ly For sale in Rutland by DANIELS & BELL.

THE NEW-YORKER.

Quarto Edition.

THE publishers of THE NEW-YORKER, encouraged by the generous and steadily increasing patronage which has hitherto rewarded their exertions, purpose to issue, from the commencement of their third Volume on the 20th of March, (ultimo) a new Double Quarto Edition of their journal, not instead of but in addition to that now published. Advertisements, except possibly a few of a strictly literary character, will be entirely excluded; and, in addition to all the matter presented in the late New Yorker, the Quarto will contain a page of popular Music, &c. &c. and be accompanied by a handsome Title Page and comprehensive Index at the close of the Volume.

The general features of the New Yorker will remain essentially as they have heretofore been. Its columns will contain:

I. General Literature—Original Tales, Essays, Reviews, Poems, &c. with corresponding selections from the Quotations, Monthlies, and all the better class of periodicals, foreign and American, with choice extracts from new works of substantial excellence. The Editor acknowledges with pride and gratitude an obligation to his regular contributors—and among them are some whose names have shed lustre on the cause of American literature—for the steadfast support hitherto afforded him, and the confidence with which he is now enabled to assure the public that it will not soon be withdrawn.

He takes pleasure in recalling the fact that, since the establishment of the New Yorker, no one other journal has afforded specimens in equal extent and variety, of the productions of all eminent American writers of whatever section or class—a characteristic which he hopes it may still preserve; while his selections from the best foreign works have been exceeded in quantity at least—by those of but three or four among the myriad of one-Atlantic periodicals.

II. National Politics. It has been the aim of the Editor to present a full and fair exhibit of the aspects, movements and struggles of parties in our country, including the meeting of convention, nomination of candidates for State & National offices, and all other significant manifestations of political feeling, with the general course in each instance, as ascertained, and the official canvass in each instance, as soon as it shall have reached us. This course is believed to be in many respects original with this journal; and it is considered that we have just cause of felicitation in the fact that, during the last year, through two years of unremitting political warfare, the fairness and general accuracy of our statements and returns have very rarely, if ever, been questioned. The Editor reserves to himself the right of remarking, as circumstances may seem to require and justice to dictate, on the less exciting political topics of the day, as on all matters, with calmness, discretion and moderation; but he will still strive—he trusts not less successfully—hitherto—to exclude from the columns of the New Yorker every observation, reflection, or even argument, which may wantonly do violence to the sincere convictions of any well informed reader, of whatever principle or party.

III. General Intelligence. In this department we can only promise the most unvarnished and potent in the collection, condensation, and arrangement of the news, foreign and domestic, which may be gathered from the weekly reception of four hundred journals, including some choice European periodicals, and which may be afforded us by the attention of our friends abroad.

Literary Notices, Statistics, Brief Notices of works of Art, Amusements, the Drama, &c. &c. will from time to time be given. As a general rule, however, it will be the aim of the Editor to embody such articles, whether original or selected, as shall at least combine instruction with entertainment.

CONDITIONS.

The Quarto New Yorker will be published every Saturday afternoon on an extra imperial sheet of the finest quality, comprising sixteen pages of three columns each, and affording to its patrons in city and country, at THREE DOLLARS per annum, payable in advance, the following advantages:

1. It will be sent by mail, free of postage, to any part of the United States, unaccompanied by a remittance, will necessarily remain unanswered. Any person or persons sending us $5 positively free of postage or other charges will receive two copies for one year, or a single copy for two years, and in the same proportion for a larger sum. The few who may desire to take the Quarto for immediate personal use, and who wish to be bound, will be entitled to receive the Quarto for $1.50 in advance. We will cheerfully preserve their files of the Quarto for any such who may desire it.

The subscribers are extremely solicitous that there be no misapprehension on the part of their patrons in regard to the two Editions of their paper. The Quarto is commenced in deference to the solicitations of a great number of their friends, who have expressed a strong desire that the New Yorker should appear in a form more susceptible of preservation than the present. It is neither anticipated nor hoped that the Quarto will supersede the present. The Quarto is a new edition of the old edition. They would frankly express their conviction that, for those whose interest in a journal expires with the day, and which it reaches them, the latter will be decidedly preferable, aside from the difference in price. Accordingly, when an order for "The New Yorker" is simply, without specification, is sent them, the folio will invariably be sent.

H. GREELEY & Co. 59 Nassau-st. New York.

THE NEW-YORKER (folio) will continue to be published at Two Dollars per annum in advance, to which Fifty cents will be added if not paid within six months. It will not, however, be forwarded on credit to new subscribers of whose solvency we have no satisfactory assurance.

CONSUMPTION!

DR. REEF'S ASTHMATIC PILLS.

HAVE, from their extraordinary success in giving instant relief, and in curing Colds, Coughs, Asthma, difficulty of Breathing, Wheezing, Tightness of the Chest, Pain in the Side, Spitting of Blood, Chills and Shivers, that precede Fevers and Lung Complaints generally, become one of the most popular medicines known, and are sought after from every part of the country, on account of the astonishing success which has attended their administration in the above complaints, frequently curing the most obstinate cases, and giving the most unexpected relief, after every other remedy had failed, and persons had given themselves up in despair of a cure.

They have been known to cure persons supposed to be far gone in consumption, and exhibiting all the appearance of approaching dissolution.

And such have been the salutary effects of these Pills even in hopeless cases, as so far to mitigate the sufferings of the patient, as evidently to prolong life for days and weeks, and give to it a positive comfort they never expected to enjoy.

The operation of the pills is wonderful in easing respiration, quieting the cough, and procuring comfortable rest.

Common colds are frequently removed in a few hours. Although, (says a person speaking of these Pills) my wife has tried various medicines of the first celebrity, for an asthmatic difficulty, (or affection of the lungs) which at times was exceedingly distressing, confining her to her house for days and weeks together, she finds nothing gives her relief, which Reefs Asthmatic Pills do—easing her respiration, quieting her cough, and giving her comfortable rest. And this is the testimony of hundreds or thousands. The relief which aged people, as well as others, experience from the use of these pills, is truly astonishing, and renders them invaluable to many, and are in fact, to some, an essential auxiliary to their comfort, and almost to their existence!

A Physician informs the proprietor, that a gentleman in the country observed to him, he had reason to believe the use of these pills had been the means of saving his life. Price, whole boxes, 30 pills, $1; half do, 12 pills 50 cts.

DUMFRIES' EYE-WATER.

FOR sore or inflamed Eyes—nothing known gives such immediate and comfortable relief. On recent sore eyes, the effect is most salutary. Where the complaint has been of years standing, and in some exceedingly bad cases, the most unexpected and desirable relief has been found in the use of this EYE-WATER, after every other remedy had failed. Persons who have used it, pronounce it without hesitation the best preparation for these complaints they have ever met with.

Price, 25 cents a bottle.

None are genuine unless signed T. KIDDER, on the wrapper, (sole proprietor and successor to Dr. Conway), by whom they are for sale, at his Counting Room, No. 99, Court st. Boston, and by his special appointment, by DANIELS & BELL, Rutland; LEVI LEWIS, Wells; ADAMS, WARNER & Co., Ludlow.

Tubs, Pails, & Patent Churns.

GERSHOM CHENEY, 2d,

(A few doors North of the Epis. Church.)

WOULD inform his customers and the public that he has recently so arranged his business in the line of that he will hereafter furnish at WHOLESALE and RETAIL all kinds of WARES on short notice and on the most reasonable terms.

The Merchants of the village having patriotically relinquished the vending of these articles, will enable him to extend his business and accommodate the public much better and at quite as cheap a rate as heretofore.

THE PATENT CHURN, he can assure the Dairy people, is an excellent article, and on trial, he has no doubt they will find it superior to any churn which has been introduced into this part of the country. Rutland, April 5, 1836. 15

Important! TO PERSONS SUFFERING FROM RHEUMATIC COMPLAINTS.

To the Editor of the Inquirer: SIR—On the principle instigated by the great and good Dr. Franklin, to diffuse as widely as possible every mean in our power to mitigate or soften the afflictions of suffering humanity, I feel it incumbent upon me to make known through the medium of your useful paper, on reading therein an advertisement of Dr. Jell's Linctament, for the cure of RHEUMATISM, I was forcibly impressed with a belief that it was calculated to remove the severe Rheumatic affection to which I had been for seven or eight years subjected, sometimes almost depriving me of the use of my limbs. I accordingly procured a bottle, and before I had used the whole of it, found very sensible relief. This increased my confidence in it, and led me to obtain another bottle, the use of which has completely removed the swellings and pains of my limbs, together with the cramp, and restored them to their wonted vigor.

I am respectfully yours, GEORGE TAYLOR, Jr. Hempstead, L. I. March 24th.

Persons suffering from the above complaints, and in despair of a cure from the failure of the various remedies they have used, are invited to make trial of this long and celebrated medicine, which has in years past cured and relieved, as it is also now doing, thousands who had despaired of relief. Nothing but a fair trial can give an adequate idea of its unrivalled excellence. It is also one of the best applications known for stiffness of the joints, numbness, sprains and chilblains. Price 50 cents.

None genuine unless signed T. KIDDER, on the wrapper, (sole proprietor and successor to Dr. Conway), by whom they are for sale, at his Counting Room, No. 99, Court street Boston, and by his special appointment, by DANIELS & BELL, Rutland; LEVI LEWIS, Wells; ADAMS, WARNER & Co., Ludlow.
